EXTRA SESSION NOT NECESSARY

Gov. Broward Says the Florida Legislature Will Not Be Convened.

For several months past Gov. Napoleon B. Broward has seriously contemplated the calling of an extra session of the legislature, which has occasioned much uneasiness among the people who could see no use for such extravagance, says the Jacksonville Metropolis.

In Tampa yesterday the governor declared that there was no necessity for the extra session, and, therefore, he would not call the lawmakers to go.

The governor was in Tampa to examine the progress made on the fitting up of the Miami with machinery and frame superstructure. He expressed himself as very much pleased with the progress, and with the work of preparing the steel for the turning out of the new dredge Caloosahatchee, which is to be launched in Tampa as soon as the dredge is completed. He discussed the work on both these dredges with Ernest Keeler, the superintendent of the Tampa Foundry & Machine company, which firm has the contract for the big craft.

"TIM" SULLIVAN IN JACKSONVILLE

Noted Tammany Leader is Passing Through Florida to Havana.

Enthusiastic over the progress made by Jacksonville since his last visit to the city eight and fifteen years ago, and expressing the hope that Jacksonville could be developed into one of the greatest winter horse racing centers of the world, Senator Timothy D. Sullivan, the noted Tammany leader, stopped at the Windsor hotel last night, while en route to Havana on a short pleasure trip, from which he will return next Tuesday and spend a longer period in the city, says the Jacksonville Metropolis.

Senator Sullivan conferred with H. D. Brown, who has for some time been in the city for the purpose of arousing interest in high-class racing, and voluntarily offered to aid the movement in a most substantial manner.

Jacksonville's Advancement.

"The advancement of Jacksonville since I was first here fifteen years ago," said Senator Sullivan, before leaving on the morning train for Tampa, "has been truly wonderful and amazing. Why, when I was here first I believe I could have bought land at a dollar an acre across the St. Johns river, and could have made a fortune on a small investment. My next visit to the city was eight years ago, and the changes made since then are equally as startling. I believe Jacksonville will ultimately develop into the largest and most prosperous city in the South, which opinion has been expressed by many prominent men with whom I have talked regarding the city."

Favors High Class Racing.

Senator Sullivan, whose present trip has included Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and New Orleans, talked in a most enthusiastic manner regarding the proposition for holding winter races in Jacksonville. "Jacksonville," said he, "has a grand opportunity in this regard, and racing of absolutely the highest class, which cannot be criticized by the most fastidious, should be held in the city each winter. I will be glad of an opportunity to take a large amount of stock in any reputable company organized for the promotion of winter racing here, and know full well that the question of financing the movement will be easily disposed of. The leading horsemen of the country will gladly bring their stables to the city, and thousands of wealthy people would be attracted by the sport each year. The wealth of New Orleans was built to a great extent on racing, and Jacksonville should take advantage of the fact that the sport has been legislated against in other cities and states. Meetings here could be conducted, and will be, if I have anything to do with the movement, in a manner that would please all. I will not only be willing but glad to do everything I possibly can to aid the movement, for I believe it would pay investors handsomely, and bring thousands of people and millions of dollars to the city."

The annual visits of Senator Sullivan and hundreds of wealthy Easterners would alone make the holding of the races in Jacksonville profitable. Tampa and Havana have already swung into line, and will hold big meetings, the Cuban meeting running throughout December and January, and the Tampa meeting throughout February. More than 100 horses have arrived in Tampa for the winter a week ago, and by the time the state fair opens in February it is expected that between 600 and 1,000 of the finest thoroughbreds in the country will be quartered in the cigar metropolises.

Election a Landslide.

There is no politician in New York city who commands a greater degree of respect than "Tim" Sullivan, and no man in the country has stood more strongly for absolutely clean sport, particularly with regard to racing, in behalf of which he has been instrumental in passing many beneficial laws. Had he, with many other wealthy New Yorkers of the same type, had control of the racing game, there would have been no necessity or desire for legislating against the great sport.

The charge having been made throughout the country that Tammany "laid down" on Bryan in the recent election, which charge has since been proved without foundation, Senator Sullivan was asked for a statement on the subject. He said:

"The charge is absurd, for Tammany did everything possible for Mr. Bryan's election. Had it not been for the bitterness of many people toward Governor Hughes, I believe Judge Taft would have swept the state by a majority of 450,000. This feeling toward Governor Hughes alone held the vote down."

Senator Sullivan is accompanied by his brother, F. J. Sullivan, J. B. Smith and J. Ryan, three powerful politicians of New York, and by Misses M. and C. Ryan. He is resting after the arduous labors of the campaign, as are the other gentlemen.
